Team Notes

The Alabama gymnastics team used a 196.625 to advance to its 35th-consecutive NCAA Championships after taking second at the NCAA Morgantown Regional Championship to Michigan (197.350) on the West Virginia campus. West Virginia (196.325) was third, followed by Southern Utah (195.675), George Washington (195.625) and Kent State (194.375). Alabama has the second-longest streak in NCAA gymnastics history when it comes to consecutive national championship berths, one behind Utah. The Crimson Tide started strong with a 49.350 on the uneven bars led by 9.9s from senior Amanda Jetter and junior Kiana Winston. On the balance beam, Alabama overcame a pair of wobbly routines to post a 49.000 powered by 9.85s from senior Aja Sims, freshman Wynter Childers and junior Nickie Guerrero. Alabama posted the highest floor exercise total of the night, a 49.475, paced by a 9.95 from Sims and 9.9s from freshman Maddie Desch and Winston. Sims' floor score was the highest of the night. Alabama closed with an uncharacteristically shaky vault rotation, scoring a season-low 48.800 behind sophomore Abby Armbricht's 9.85.

Team Notes

Arkansas finished tied for third place at the NCAA Regional with a team season-high score of 196.600. Freshman Jessica Yamzon and junior Braie Speed advanced to the NCAA Championship as individual all-arounders and vault specialist, respectively. Yamzon was the second-highest all-arounder who was not on an advancing team. Among all competitors, she finished sixth with a score of 39.175. Speed tied for first-place in the vault with four other competitors — Denelle Pedrick from Central Michigan, Rachel Fielitz from Denver and MyKayla Skinner from Utah. To kick off the event on balance beam, freshman Michaela Burton earned a 9.875 equaling her personal-best mark set against Auburn on Feb. 3. The score is also tied for the fourth-best mark on beam this season. Four Razorbacks — Yamzon (9.825), Nelson (9.800), McGlone (9.800) and Burton (9.875) — earned marks of 9.8 and above on balance beam to kick off NCAA Regional action. Arkansas' score of 49.075 on balance beam is the fourth-highest team score in the event, topping the previous mark of 49.050 set against Centenary and SJSU on March 10. On floor exercise, the Gymbacks were anchored by senior Samantha Nelson and sophomore Sydney McGlone, who each earned a score of 9.900. Nelson tied her season-high mark earned against Florida on Feb. 17 and McGlone tied her season-high and career-best marks earned against SJSU and Centenary on March 10 along with Alabama on Jan. 22, 2016. The team's 49.225 on floor is tied for the second-best team performance in the event, equaling the mark set against LSU on Feb. 10. Moving on to vault, the Razorbacks closed out the event with a 49.175, a new team season-high mark, surpassing the previous record of 49.000 gained against LSU on Feb. 10. Arkansas rounded off the last event with a 49.125 on uneven bars. Arkansas' final team score of 196.600 is a new season-high mark, besting the previous high of 196.375 set against No. 17 Auburn on Feb. 3.

Team Notes

The No. 21 Auburn gymnastics team concluded the 2017 season in Barnhill Arena, finishing tied for third with a season-high 196.600 at the NCAA Fayetteville Regional. Top-seeded Utah won the meet with a 197.150, while No. 2 seed Denver came in second with a 197.050. Host Arkansas also finished with a 196.600, while California came in fifth at 196.300. Central Michigan closed out the team scoring at 195.675. A pair of Tigers will represent Auburn as individuals at the NCAA Championships, April 14-15, in St. Louis. Sophomore Samantha Cerio finished tied for first on bars with a career-high 9.925 to advance in the event, while freshman Katie Becker's career-best 39.200 in the all-around was good to move on. Auburn kicked off the day with its best event, tying a season-high score on bars with a 49.375. Behind Cerio's 9.925, sophomores Taylor Krippner and Emma Engler added a pair of 9.9s. That total set a career high for Krippner, while it tied a career best for Engler. Freshman Gracie Day chipped in a 9.85 and Becker led things off for the Tigers with a career-high score of 9.8. The Tigers moved on to beam, finishing with a 49.000. Senior Kullen Hlawek and Cerio put the Tigers in a good position with solid routines, scoring a 9.8 apiece. Following Becker's 9.775, red-shirt freshman Emma Slaphey finished with 9.8 and Krippner anchored with a 9.825. After enjoying a bye, the squad put together a solid showing on floor with a 49.150. The youthful Tigers were led by three of its seniors in the event as MJ Rott and Hlawek had team best scores of 9.85s, while Lucia Scaglione chipped in a 9.825. Slaphey also earned a 9.825 and Becker and Day kicked off the event with 9.8s. The meet concluded on vault for the Tigers and the squad's 49.075 was the second-best score of the season. Becker led off the rotation with a career-tying 9.825 and was followed by a 9.8 from Engler. Rott once again had a team high, finishing with a 9.85 on her Yurchenko full. Krippner earned a 9.825 and Day anchored with a 9.775.

Team Notes

Some familiar faces await the University of Florida gymnastics team in the NCAA Championships semifinal action. Florida is one of four Southeastern Conference programs in the six-team field for NCAA Semifinal II, set for Friday, April 14 at 8 p.m. (ET). Semifinal II contains Florida, Alabama, Georgia, LSU, Michigan and Nebraska. Florida is the No. 3 seed for the third time and for the first time since 1985. The Gators advance to the national site after winning the NCAA Gainesville Regional. Florida is the No. 3 seed for the third time and for the first time since 1985. The Gators advance to the national site after winning the NCAA Gainesville Regional. This is the eighth time in its 35 NCAA Championships' appearances Florida opens competition on vault, with the last coming in 2014. Florida won the Gainesville Regional title in front of 5,214 at the Exactech Arena at the Stephen C. O'Connell Center. The Gators turned in a 197.125 Saturday for the team's sixth consecutive NCAA Regional title. The top two teams in regional competition advance to the NCAA Championships. Georgia claimed the other berth at 196.775. Missouri was third at 196.10, followed by Penn State (195.325), North Carolina (194.425) and New Hampshire (194.175). Junior Alex McMurtry won at least a share of four event titles, including her second consecutive all-around win. The Southeastern Conference Gymnast of the Year took the SEC all-around with a collegiate-best 39.70. Today's total was just off her SEC mark at 39.675. She led a Gator sweep of the top three all-around spots, as fellow junior Kennedy Baker was second at 39.55 and freshman Amelia Hundley was third (39.375). McMurtry took sole possession of the bars win at 9.95 and shared the beam title with Georgia's Ashlyn Broussard at 9.90. It was a three-way Gator tie for the floor exercise title, as McMurtry, Baker and sophomore Alicia Boren all turned in a 9.925. Junior Rachel Slocum and Georgia's Sydney Snead tied for the vault win with identical marks of 9.95.

Team Notes

The Georgia gymnastics team (15-10) punched its ticket to the NCAA Gymnastics Championship with a second-place finish in the Gainesville regional. The 10th-ranked Gymdogs finished with a 196.775, trailing only No. 3 Florida (197.125). Georgia raced out to an early lead and held the upper hand at the halfway point of the meet but could not fend off their SEC foes. Georgia defeated 15th-ranked Missouri (196.100) as well as Penn State (195.325), North Carolina (194.425) and New Hampshire (194.175) in the six-team meet. Sydney Snead and Ashlyn Broussard claimed an event titles on the day - Snead with her fourth 9.95 on vault this season and Broussard with her second-straight 9.9 on beam. The Gymdogs also got big performances from freshman Rachel Dickson (9.9 - bars). The Gymdogs grabbed the lead out of the gate while posting their best road vault score this season with a 49.325. All six gymnasts claimed a 9.8 or better, with Snead leading the way with a 9.95, her fourth of the season in the event. Georgia got a trio of 9.85s from Gigi Marino, Broussard and Lauren Johnson and also counted a 9.825 from Morgan Reynolds. After a bye, Georgia maintained the lead with a strong 49.200 on bars as a team. Dickson claimed the high score for Georgia with a 9.9 in her NCAA postseason debut, and she was followed by 9.85s from Snead and Rachel Schick. Reynolds and Hayley Sanders opened the set with a pair of 9.8s to get the momentum going in the second rotation. Broussard paced the Gymdogs on beam with her second-consecutive 9.9 in the event. Sabrina Vega got the rotation started with a 9.8 of her own and Georgia turned in a team effort of 49.075, relinquishing the top spot to Florida by the narrow margin of 0.05 with one event remaining for each team - the Gators going to vault and the Gymdogs still awaiting floor. Georgia scored a 49.175 on floor as a team in the final rotation, finishing with a meet score of 196.775. The Gymdogs were led on floor by Vega's 9.875, with Vivi Babalis and Marino following closely behind with a pair of 9.85s. Reynolds and Beth Roberts also contributed 9.8s in the event.

Two Wildcats qualified for the NCAA Gymnastics National Championships as UK placed third in the NCAA Seattle Regional meet with a score of 196.200 inside the Alaska Airlines Arena on the campus of the University of Washington. Freshman Mollie Korth and Sophomore Alex Hyland qualified for the national championships in the all-around. Both Korth and Hyland finished with all-around scores of 39.300, tying for fourth place at the regional. Korth is the 15th different individual to qualify for the NCAA championships in program history, while Hyland qualified for the event last season as well. Korth led Kentucky with 19 event titles throughout the season. Hyland led on beam with 11 event titles, including the SEC beam title. Korth's best finish was on the vault, where she posted a 9.875, good for a podium finish of sixth-place finish. The Cambridge, Wisconsin native finished seventh on beam with a 9.850 and also posted a 9.8 on the floor and a 9.775 on bars. Hyland's best event was on the beam once again, good for a tie for third place with a 9.9. Hyland finished with a 9.850 on the floor, a 9.8 on beam and a 9.75 on the vault. All four Wildcat all-arounders scored above a 39 during the event. Sophomore Katie Stuart scored a 39.125 while sophomore Sidney Dukes scored a 39.050. As a team, the Wildcats finished in third with a team score of 196.200, the program-high for Kentucky in a NCAA Regional. Oklahoma and Washington advanced as the two teams from the Seattle Regional with scores of 198.075 and 196.550, respectively. Stanford finished fourth with a score of 195.025, BYU fifth with a 195.025 and Utah State sixth with a 194.850. The 2017 season marked multiple broken records for the Wildcats. UK earned its top four scores in program history this season, as well as its highest regional qualifying score of 196.845. Kentucky will wrap up 2017 with a team record of 16-10-1 and 3-4 in the Southeastern Conference.

Team Notes

The second-ranked LSU gymnastics team totaled a 197.450 to finish first in the NCAA Lincoln Regional and secure its spot in the 2017 NCAA Championship at the Bob Devaney Sports Complex. The Tigers used a complete performance to post the highest team score at a Regional held away from Baton Rouge in school history. The title marked the 16th for the program and the fifth straight. LSU moved to 25-1 on the season with the top finish. Nebraska finished in second and also advanced with a score of 196.625. Boise State finished in third with a 196.150. Minnesota, Arizona and Iowa State rounded out the teams with scores of 195.575, 195.500 and 195.250 respectively. LSU gymnasts captured four of five titles on the night. Sarah Finnegan totaled a 39.475 in the all-around and won bars with a 9.95. Freshman Kennedy Edney posted a 9.925 on vault for the outright title. Senior Ashleigh Gnat also scored a 9.95 on floor for the victory. With the win on floor, Gnat totaled the 11 win on the event for the season to set a new school record for most in a single season. No. 2 LSU (25-1) will compete in the second semifinal of the day, which begins at 7 p.m. The meet will be televised live on ESPNU with Bart Conner, Kathy Johnson Clarke and Laura Rutledge on the call. The Tigers will begin the first rotation on a bye before starting the meet on floor and continuing to vault. Following its second bye, the squad will close out the meet on bars and then beam. In Semifinal II, LSU will compete against No. 3 Florida, No. 7 Michigan, No. 6 Alabama, No. 10 Georgia and No. 11 Nebraska. The first Semifinal features No. 1 Oklahoma, No. 4 Utah, No. 5 UCLA, No. 9 Denver No. 13 Washington and No. 8 Oregon State.

Team Notes

The No. 15 Missouri gymnastics team finished third with a team score of 196.100 at the 2017 NCAA Gainesville Regional in Gainesville, Florida. The 196.100 tied the Tigers' second-highest regional score in program history, trailing just the 196.500 recorded at the 2010 NCAA Columbia Regional. Florida and Georgia advanced out of the Regional to the 2017 NCAA Championships, as the Gators won the Regional with a 197.125 and Georgia placed second with 196.775 points. Penn State placed fourth (195.325), followed by North Carolina in fifth (194.425) and New Hampshire in sixth (194.175). After a bye in the first rotation, Missouri posted a 49.025 on floor in its first competition of the day. Junior Kennedy Harris (Atlanta, Georgia) notched a team-best 9.875 on the exercise, her 10th score of 9.875 or higher in 2017. Sophomores Madeleine Huber (St. Louis, Missouri) and Brooke Kelly (Birmingham, Alabama) each earned 9.8s and sophomore Allison Bower (Mesa, Arizona), junior Becca Schugel (Eagan, Minnesota) and freshman Aspen Tucker (Lehigh Acres, Florida) all went 9.775. A 49.075 on vault in the third rotation kept up the team's solid start. Ward, a Regular Season All-America second team honoree on the event, posted a 9.875 to pace the squad. A strong vault from Tucker earned her a 9.850 and Harris and sophomore Xarria Lewis (Columbia, Missouri) recorded scores of 9.8, a season-high for Lewis. The Tigers responded with a 49.150 on bars in the fifth rotation following a bye. Four different Tigers earned scores of 9.825 or higher, including 9.85s from Schugel, Kelly and junior Shauna Miller (Knoxville, Tennessee), while Huber was just behind with a 9.825. Additionally, Ward notched a 9.75 in the leadoff spot. Ward again led the way for Missouri on beam in the final rotation. Her 9.875 on the apparatus tied for third overall on the event and was only 0.25 off tying her for the event title and a spot at the National Championships. Kelly earned a 9.8 as beam, Schugel and junior Tia Allbritten posted 9.75s and Bower went 9.7.
