Note: From 1981-85, the SEC Championship was a two-night event with the individual champions being determined by adding scores from each night on all events. In 1986, the league went to a one-night competition with all individual champions being determined during that meet. In addition, in 1981 and 1982, a teams total score was determined by adding the top four individual scores in each event. In 1983, the current format of adding the top five scores was implemented. In 2013, the SEC Championship began a two-session format similar to the NCAA Championships.
