SEC Soccer Celebrating 25 Years

The Southeastern Conference has continued its rise as one of the top conferences in women's soccer.

SEC women's soccer will begin its 25th season in 2017 deeply rooted in the national scene of collegiate soccer. Since the SEC initiated women's soccer as a varsity sport in 1993, the sport's popularity has grown through the country and especially in the Southeast.

The 2016 season reaffirmed the SEC's prominence in the women's soccer. The SEC had six teams selected to participate in the 2016 NCAA Tournament. It marked the ninth time in the last 10 seasons that the SEC has had at least six teams advance to postseason play. Three teams earned national seeds and four teams earned the right to host their opening round match on their home pitch.

Three SEC teams - Auburn, Florida and South Carolina - advanced to the Round of 16 in the NCAA Tournament. It is the third consecutive year the SEC has had at least three teams advance to the Round of 16 of the NCAA Tournament.

Two teams - Auburn and South Carolina - advanced to the Quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament. It was the second time in three years the SEC has had multiple teams in the NCAA Quarters (Florida, South Carolina and Texas A&M in 2014).

SEC teams finished 9-3-2 against other conferences in the NCAA Tournament this year and is 28-14-9 over the last three seasons.

South Carolina's 11-0-0 league record earned the Gamecocks the 2016 SEC Championship. It was just the second time in the last 16 years an SEC team posted a perfect record in league play and is the second SEC title for South Carolina.

Florida won its 12th SEC Tournament championship with a 2-1 overtime win over Arkansas in Orange Beach, Ala. UF midfielder Meggie Dougherty-Howard was named SEC Tournament MVP.

South Carolina's Savannah McCaskill and Kaleigh Kurtz were named SEC Offensive and Defensive Players of the Year, respectively. USC's Shelley Smith was named SEC Coach of the Year. Missouri's Sarah Luebbert was Freshman of the Year while Auburn's Casie Ramsier earned Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors.

That incremental growth, combined with increasing exposure on the national and regional scene, has SEC women's soccer looking to blossom to new heights in the year 2016 and beyond.

In 2016, the SEC boasted ...

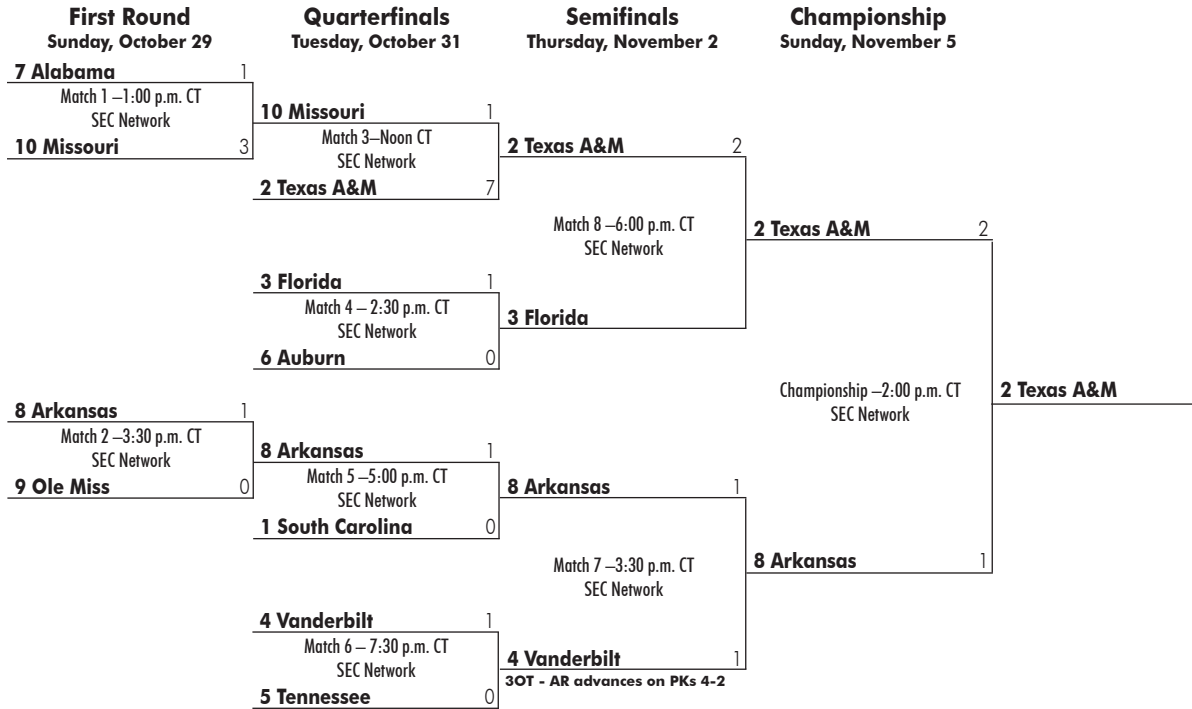

- Five NSCAA Scholar All-Americans
- Six CoSIDA Academic All-Americans
- 10 Capital One Academic All-District picks
- Nine programs earning NSCAA College Team Academic Awards
- Six NSCAA All-Americans, including two first team selections
- 27 student-athletes on the NSCAA All-Region teams
- Six teams advancing to the NCAA Championships
- At least six teams advancing to the postseason for the ninth time in the past 10 seasons
- Three teams advanced to the Round of 16 in the NCAA Tournament. It was the third consecutive year at least three teams advanced to the Round of 16
- Seven different schools have made Round of 16 appearances over the last four years
- Two teams advanced to the Round of 8 in the NCAA Tournament. It was the second time in three years that the SEC has had multiple teams in the NCAA Quarterfinals
