ABOUT THE SEC

• Since its formation in 1933, the SEC has directed and organized inter-scholastic athletic competitions, conducted tournaments and prescribed eligibility rules for student-athletes. The Conference also facilitates and assists its member institutions in maintaining intercollegiate athletic programs compatible with the highest standards of education and competitive sports.

• The Southeastern Conference crowns champions in 21 sports - 12 women's sports and nine men's sports. They include baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, equestrian, football, men's and women's golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field, and volleyball.

• In the fall of 2012, the University of Missouri and Texas A&M University became the 13th and 14th members of the Southeastern Conference. It marked the first expansion for the SEC since 1991 and the second-ever increase for the league since its founding in 1933.

• The Southeastern Conference had 46 Capital One Academic All-Americans in 2013-14. The league had 17 student-athletes earn first-team honors. The Capital One Academic All-America Teams are voted on by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). The 46 student-athletes represent 11 of the SEC 14 schools while seven schools had at least one person on the first-team. Since 2003, the SEC has had 232 student-athletes earn first-team Capital One Academic All-America status.

• The Southeastern Conference won seven national championships in 2013-14: Baseball (Vanderbilt); Equestrian (Georgia); Men's Golf (Alabama); Gymnastics (Florida); Softball (Florida); Women's Swimming & Diving (Georgia); and Women's Outdoor Track & Field (Texas A&M).

The SEC also had a national runner-up in six sports, including: Men's Basketball (Kentucky); Equestrian (South Carolina); Football (Auburn); Softball (Alabama); Men's Indoor Track & Field (Arkansas); and Men's Outdoor Track & Field (Florida).

TENNESSEE

The men's and women's cross country teams at Tennessee were idle for the second consecutive week last week, but return to competition this Saturday at the Greater Louisville Classic. The UT men are one of 29 collegiate participants in Louisville, while the women will compete within a field of 34. The race will be held at E.P. Tom Sawyer State Park and is expected to feature 2,600 participants across eight races that include upwards of 125 collegiate programs spanning multiple NCAA divisions as well as high school athletes. Last year, the Tennessee men came in fourth place at the Classic while the women placed sixth. Junior Austin Whitelaw posted the best time of any of the men's returners at last year's event, running the 8k in a time of 25:17.40. Meanwhile, junior Alexi Panisse paced the women a year ago with a 5k time of 17:23.50. Fellow junior Chelsea Blaase, who has opened the year with back-to-back runner-up finishes, came in 27th (17:54.88) at the 2013 Classic.

TEXAS A&M

This week in region rankings A&M women dropped a spot to No. 5 while the men fell one spot to No. 4 in the South Central. The Aggies return to action on Oct. 10 in the Houston Baptist Invitational and then compete in the Wisconsin adidas Invitational on Oct. 17. Men – Isaac Spencer led the A&M men once again, placing 33rd as he ran 25:41.7 on the 8,000-meter course. Vanderbilt's top-five finishers were separated by only 21 seconds, representing the best 1-5 spread of any team in the field. Amira Joseph paced the Commodores, finishing 34th with a time of 22:10. Sara Barron was the second Commodore to cross the line, posting a time of 22:16 to take 40th.
