Junior Tight End Hayden Hurst

On how much his life has changed in the past two years...

"This has all happened to me so fast, leaving baseball and now being in the position that the coaches have allowed me to be in. It really hasn't crossed my mind at all. I love Columbia. It has absolutely changed my life."

On the importance of South Carolina's first game of the season...

"Having NC State on our schedule is probably the best thing that has happened to us. We have taken every single day as seriously as possible. We know what they are capable of. Having them on our schedule has been huge and it has done nothing but good things for our program. We take it seriously because we know what we are going to get on Sept. 7 in Charlotte."

On what it means to represent South Carolina at SEC Media Days...

"It means everything to me. The University of South Carolina, Coach Muschamp, and this staff have completely changed my life. To be here and be one of the three guys that Coach Muschamp selected is a great honor. I'm humbled to be here."
