LSU Player Quotes

Monday, July 18

On playing college football in his home state of Louisiana ...

"It just means a little bit more whenever you're playing for LSU. Being from Louisiana, you want to put on for your state. You want to put on for your family and your friends. It's been awesome being able to play here at LSU."

On the receiver room at LSU...

"Our wide receiver room is stacked, and we are headed by one of the best wide receiver coaches in college football in Coach Hankton. Everybody in that room is a very good football player, athlete, and route runner."

On the improvements for the 2022 season...

"I want to get, bigger, stronger, and faster, because in the SEC, if you don't elevate and transform, then you're behind par. You always have to be elevating and on top of your game, whether that be in season or offseason, you have to be...getting better at it."

On the season opener against Florida State in New Orleans...

"I'm excited to pad up again and to start playing some more games to see how all the hard work we put in this offseason has come into our gameplay."
